“ I would like the Family of Ray to know that Ray was very well thought of, at Hartville Hardware. He was a very nice man and a gentle and kind soul. He will be in our prayers.

“ My first memory of Ray was when I was about 12yrs old or so. I was playing ball with a bunch of kids on a field at Oxford School. There was some commotion across the street and a guy yelled for us to come help push a car that was coming off a truck. We all pushed the car, a cream-colored Ford falcon, I think, up the drive. The guys opened the hood and I saw it had no motor. Huh, I thought, this thing's not going anywhere! And yet this pretty blond-haired girl (Jeanne) kept exclaiming, "Oh Ray, oh Ray! It's just beautiful! She was just beaming and I kept thinking, "How can you be so happy? It won't even run - what good is it?!" The big strong guy (Ray) just grinned and looked proud.

It's funny how years later, this guy, Ray, became my friend, a client at my auto mechanic shop (imagine that!) and my neighbor.

For the many years that I knew Ray, he was always kind, good-hearted and a gentleman.

You'll be sorely missed, Ray.

P.S. I never did find out what happened to that car that made Jeanne so very happy.

Your friend and neighbor,

Steve Leo
