“ I googled Cathy today and am quite shocked to read about her passing. I was a podiatry student in Cleveland from 1976-1980 and worked mostly weekends at Cleveland Clinic, 1978-1980, as a phlebotomist. I first met Cathy in the medical ICU and was smitten. We dated for a while and I had the opportunity to meet her lovely family. The last time I saw Cathy was 1981 or 1982 in Colorado Springs. She had come out to visit after I completed a residency in Denver. I have frequently thought about Cathy the past year before/during/after my bone marrow biopsies as I knew she was trained at Cleveland Clinic to perform these procedures. Cathy was a lovely, funny, high-energy, sweet gal. I could have easily married her, but to repeat a common quote, "timing is everything." My heartfelt condolences to her son, siblings, extended family and friends.
