“ When I was 5, I was in Ohio with my family to bury my grandmother, Denise's aunt. I met Winnie for the first time, and also met Denise. I remember well the red hair, and, I could have sworn, the green eyes. For some reason, the lime green Mustang with the red leather interior also stuck out -- how did that even work?. She was just a college girl, then, and had that classic look of one for the age.

Hadn't seen her since then, though we did reconnect briefly on Facebook.

I remember her as vivacious, excited, full of lust for life, and full of dreams. I wish I remembered what those dreams were.

What happened between then and now is unknown to me; I know she went through some serious hard knocks, and came through them just that little bit worse for wear for a while.

I miss her posts, I miss shooting short messages to her now and then, and I really wish I could have had the chance to see her those few times I was recently back east to visit family; timing didn't permit it, regrettably.

Cuz, I will miss you - I really wish we could have caught up more. Say hi to Winnie, Ethel, Homer, and Mom for me.

Love you,

J.

That's a beautiful tribute, J. I wish I could have met her but your description helped me to know more. Godspeed, Denise!

She could laugh through any pain. A true animal lover. Smart and artistic, I know you are having a ball in heaven. Blessed to have known you. Will miss you.

One of my best and favorite workers at the coffeehouse -- and most talented (as all our signage attested)! She brightened all our lives and will be greatly missed. God bless and Godspeed, Denise! - Joan Komic
