“ I was about eight when Fay and Hugh were married. My sister, Beth was the flower girl. They were the All American couple, especially to we younger kids. Fay, the glamorous career girl, Hugh the athletic, wood craftsman, and teacher. I know all the family was saddened when they moved north, but it was a great move for them. Through all the years they returned for reunions, and were such gracious hosts when they entertained at the Taylor property at Piedmont Lake. They were obviously great parents as their accomplished children have proved. We have heard how they were important parts in the lives of the students they worked with over many years. Our deepest condolences to the Taylor and Gorman families.

“ Taylor Family,

So sorry for your loss. I'll always miss Fay on the morning walks at Piedmont. She was always willing to help. I'll never forget the Memorial Day picnics and the time she took to get just right chickens. If you need any help at home or Piedmont, be sure to let me know.

“ Aunt Faye helped me through a couple of bad times of depression. She was a very understanding lady. She made blankets for my kids when they were born and she was always tickled that my son, Paul, shared her birthday.
