“ Although I did not meet Gwenn until her later years I found her to be a special women. I would visit her with my dogs and she would light up and get the biggest smile on her face while she clapped her hands. Her smile is what I will miss the most. And I could she was a dog lover by the way she was so excited whenever she saw them. If she would say "sit" and the dog would sit it would make her so happy. Later on she could not tell one dog from another but she knew to say sit. She is someone I wish I had known in her younger years. Her daughter Ruth was the most amazing caregiver I have ever met. With her mother every day and believe me her mother knew. When Ruth was gone all her mother could talk about was Ruth. They were so close, it was as if Ruth never left her side. Bless them both.
