“ Every once in a while I would pass by the messages written with paper cups on the chain link fence of Garfield. I didn't know the specifics, but I knew as a mom, that a little boy named Jacob had to be very sick. The last time I drove by Garfield, the cups read "Fly high, super hero", and my heart sunk. I cried for Jacob, not knowing who he was, or what battle he had fought. Only today I saw a fire fighter paying tribute to Jacob Goss on Facebook, and only then did I learn the full story.

As the mother of a little boy, my heart breaks for Jacob's family. Stay strong and fly high.

“ My favorite memory of Jacob was from when he was about 4 years old. I would drop my son off to Goddard in the morning, and Heather would sometimes put a cute long sleeve t shirt over a cute short sleeve t shirt- in case he got warm during the day. More than one occasion, I brought Hayden to school and was greeted by Jacob's sweet smile- and he wanted to show me the cute (usually cars) t shirt hiding under the long sleeve one. He always included Hayden in whatever he was playing- so concerned about others at such a young age. Jacob was a beautiful soul, and will always hold a special place in my heart.

“ My favorite memory of our super hero is when my daughter Faith and I went to play Legos with Jacob and all he wanted to do was play cards with me while watching her. He kicked my butt of course and was giggling the whole time because he said I can have that done in half the time. Hee hee. We were all laughing and having fun. Jacob has touched my soul. He has unwavering love for everyone he meets. God's love shined through in everything about him. Jacob Goss fly among the Angels and know that you will never be forgotten. We love you Kellie, Faith Mr. Nelson
