“ I will never forget being in Elementary School at O.H. Perry and at lunch time a bunch of us would go over to Jim's house and listen to music. We were all in the 7th or 8th grade. I also remember that Jim's brother was a Vet, or studying to be a Vet, and for a time had a horse in their large backyard. The horse had been injured somehow and they were bringing it back to good health. We of course lived in the middle of the city where one did not often see horses in people back yards. LOL

I also remember when a bunch of us were in High School and we all drove to Philadelphia so we could be on American Bandstand. That was a blast and a true adventure.

Jim was a really nice person. There was not much he would not do for you if you asked. He will be missed by all but I am sure he will be welcomed with open arms on the other side. I look forward to seeing him again.
