“ As we all know my brother and I were not close the latter part of his life and unfortunately we didn't even like each other half the time. I just did not approve of his life style. However I can truly say that I loved my brother and I know in his heart he loved me too. It makes me sad he felt hurt by me by what he perceived to be true and there was nothing I could say to convince him otherwise. This for me is what is making this whole process of his death so very hard for me to accept. Anyone who knows me, knows that I would never do anything to maliciously hurt someone, especially not my brother. I have a bond with Jimmy that only a sister can have. We of course had the "not so good" memories but far too many "good" ones that I will have with me forever and no one can take those from me. I wanted nothing but the best for Jimmy. I prayed every night that he would get his life together.
I will forever miss you little brother!
May you Rest in Peace❤️
