“ Mom,
In my mind I believed I would have you forever that you passing away would never happen. I am the woman I am today because of you and Den (My Dad) if it was for you guys surrounding me in the years before with positivity....well who knows we're I would be today. I love you both ❤️ I believe more the life and you both have been my every single day for many many years. I am your only daughter and you said when Dad died he left you with an ANGEL (My Angel) as you called me. I so bad wanted to take away your pain, your sickness all of it but it was out of my hands and in the Lords hand and on the day he took you home it was as though you took away all my worries I had for you and with that Momma, I thank you. I promise to always honor your memory and stay close to Den as I always have been close to him. And don't worry Ma I will use my Judy voice and vocabulary on him once in awhile so he looks at me and says "Your Just Like Your Mother" laugh out loud Mom. I will never say Goodbye to you I will only say say you again some day.
Love Your One And Only Angel

“ I love you grandma! I know you are at peace but I will forever miss you and I will never forget the sound of your voice and the way you laughed with me many times. I will miss our phone calls and bond over cookies. I am grateful that even though you couldn't physically be with me that you were able to be virtually present for the birth of my daughter ❤️ Everything about you was soothing and comforting. In my darkest times you hugged me and wiped away my tears. You always encouraged me to do good and be the best me I could be. No person could ever replace you or fill the void I will forever carry without you here gram. Our connection is strong and will never be broken. I love you 💕
