“ I have a memory of hanging out with Kevin at Kent State in the mid-90's. Who in the hell would think we would be talking about the "good old days" and speaking about the 90's? He and I and his friend Eric went downtown in my old car, in the process, we got pretty tuned up. We headed back from the bars cranking the Beastie Boys loud in a car that had a stereo and amp that cost 3 times as much as the car was worth. We came back down the main drag in Kent and decided to stop at Taco Bell for a bite. The Kent Police were probably thinking the same thing as us, except for very different reasons. It all worked out to an extent; instead of big trouble, I ended up with a noise pollution ticket and we got home in one piece. Ever since we were kids, we were running around and getting into trouble. God bless you buddy. You will be missed.

“ One story that I will never forget is when we talked on the phone back in high school and he would tell me how he thought his house was haunted. We would be in mid conversation and he would stop and say “do you hear that?” Or “the toilet just flushed by itself”. Then we would joke and laugh about it. Kevin was such an awesome and nice guy. My deepest condolences to his kids and family. I am so sorry.
