“ Rest in Peace, Ms Kaufmann. Thank you for being a great neighbor to my girls. I will miss serving you stuffed flounder at red lobster..Now the hole in that fence can be someone else's headache! God Bless you.

“ Oh my so many memories. I remember her weekly ironing day in the living room. My mom never ironed so I always thought it was cool how she ironed everything. Playing board games in the den, riding our bikes and crashing in the back of your garage (or that might have only been me 😊) your mom and dad were always the nicest parents in the world!

And recently your mom always talked to my grandkids while we trick or treated at her house.

And her speeding up the street in her little blue car, I always see her going by my house and say" there goes Lila"

Gonna miss that,in Gods arms now 😊

“ I have so many childhood memories of Laura's mom, she always had the best snacks, made the best salads from her garden with homemade dressing, but most of all, playing cards on their front lawn under the birch tree....Love you Laura
