He was born still, he was beautiful, and even though we could hold him for a few minutes in our grief , he was in Gods arms the whole time. We never got to look into his eyes and show him how much he was loved. It is with our love and deepest sympathy and heartfelt sorrow goes out to his mother, father and brother and sisters of Lincoln. We will always love and remember him in our hearts. Love grandpa Chris and grandma Edie.

Hi my handsome man. Mommy missed you today. As daddy and I only got a little bit with you, I wanted you to know the love this family has for you and how much you are missed. Im not sure why you were taken from us, I can only tell myself, not to cry because its over, but smile because it happened. I smile because I got the chance of holding you for nine months and nothing on this planet could take that from me. I got to see and feel how much love daddy and I have for each other and the strength given to your siblings and us to smile through this tragedy with the support and love from family and friends. You were taken to soon but never will a day go by i dont see your face and smile. I see you everyday in your father and i will appreciate each day being able to wake up to a glimpse of you in the person who has been my rock. Mommys smiling, smile back teddybear.
