“ Well I remember Marie very well. I first met her in 1974-76 when we were both members of The Lake Erie College Italian Club, Il Convivio. We shared our stories about Italy and had a mutual passion for authentic Italian food. One time she invited me to prepare Veal Saltimboca for her cooking class at Wildwood. Her Italian cookbook, Viva Italia, is my go to reference book for authentically prepared Italian food. Just the other day I was discussing with several people how a lot of restaurants add cream to their Marsala sauce and I insisted that was not how it should be prepared. So I went to Marie's cookbook and sure enough there is no mention of cream in preparing Veal or Chicken Marsala. What a great Italian cookbook and Marie's memory lives on every time I look at it.

“ Mom, you will be missed forever. An amazing woman you were. While being a great and caring mother of four of us. you also pursued your ambitions and paved your path. Your accomplishments were many. Inspirational and motivating.

As the Beatles sang, "And in the end, the love you take is equal to the love you make". They also said, "All You Need is Love".

Your love of your family will remain deep in our hearts forever Mom.

Your loving son, John
