“ I admired so many of my Father's great attributes: Love of life. Love of family, friends, dogs. Hard working. Teacher. Loyalty. Providing security for family. Always wanting to make people smile. Sentimental. Never giving up. Compassion. I will always remember my first day away at college. After Dad left, I unpacked my duffel bag. Sitting at the bottom was a fresh red rose from his garden which he had placed there to show his love for me, his Daughter. My heart swells with so much love for you Dad. I will truly miss you until we meet again. Your Loving Daughter, Karen

“ Mark was a true friend. He was one of the most caring people I have ever known. Having respect for him was very easy. His trademark was red hot balls and peanuts, particularly the hot balls. Mark will be missed by everyone who knew him.

“ We all know that MARK left a trail of hot balls and peanuts everywhere he went. He made sure we got one. We will never know for sure but I think it was so we could find our way back to him. He was always there to help.!!!

“ Three things I especially associated with Mark were peanuts, red hots and large spread sheets. Anybody who knew Mark will acknowledge these unique things were “Mark”. He will be missed by many.
