Mary was a dedicated educator at the junior high and college levels in the fields of History, English and Speech for over 40 years. She also played competitive bridge and took home a few trophies in each area.

As an alumna of Notre Dame Academy '48 and College '52, she remained active in their Alumnae Association where she served as president. She also donated her daughter, Maggie's, Holocaust research to found the Tolerance

Resource Center at Notre Dame College, where Maggie was also an alum.

But most importantly, she was Mom, Nannie, Gram, G. Gram and "Eek" to her family and friends, and Mrs. Kocevar to her thousands of former students.

Survivors include her children, Sarah Strang, William (Angela) Kocevar, Kathryn E. Kocevar (Jackie Scott), and Julie (David) DeVries; grandchildren, Elizabeth (Robert) Choromanski, Daniel Kocevar, Kevin Strang, Patrick (fiancée, Olivia Young) Strang, Michael DeVries, Joseph (Kara) DeVries, and Robert DeVries; great-grandchildren Taylor, Ryan, Annalise, and Madilynnn, and many other loving family members and friends.
