I remember when Matt was a baby, when he was at my house he would only go to sleep on my bean bag chair. Loved him.

Matt was a fantastic co-worker and friend. I owe him a debt of gratitude for helping me navigate my first days at Progressive, when I was partnered with him to learn the job. I was struggling and he explained everything by slowing it down and giving me all the tips, he had learned, to do our job. I don't know if I would have been able to keep my job without his teaching. He always was ready to help me when I wasn't sure what to do with a file. He was so appreciative of all the birthday and holiday little gifts / celebrations I did for the team and thanked me for my silly email jokes. He will be greatly missed, and I am so glad our lives passed, and I could call him a friend.

“ It's hard to pick one memory to share when there's so many from Scottish games with Paw to wrestling shows to going to see Def Leppard in concert and that's just scratching the surface. I just hope you're looking down on us all and seeing just how many people loved you and were glad they knew you. You touched more lives than I think you ever realized. Like you're one of those rare people that someone meets and carries that for life especially those who got to call you friend or family. Love you
