“ Terri shared so many moments as a Christian sister at Greace Covenant Church that meant so much to me. From the time in the nursery when her son Chris was born to the week or so before her accident when she would come and kneel with one leg on the pew in front of mine after the service and just talk with us as a group of women gathered together in conversation. There was always joy on her face and love in her heart. As a long time friend she will dearly be missed.

Leonard, Chris and Kevin, you have our heartfelt sympathy and prayers at this time. God bless you.

“ We had the exceptional blessing of sitting next to Terri during our Christian education hour at Grace Covenant Church. When she came to church, she would always greet me with a big smile, a hug and ask how my week went, truly wanting to hear how my week went. Before leaving the church after services, she always met me at the door and gave me another hug, wishing me a blessed week. What a beautiful package, wrapped in that slim, petite frame. I write this with tears in my eyes, because I will selfishly miss her and wish that she were still here. But that is selfish, for I know without a doubt that she is in heaven right now, basking in the beauty and glory that surrounds her, knowing a love that she couldn't possibly know while still here on earth. She is now in the Presence of her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, singing His praises along with all the saints who went before her. We eagerly await seeing her again when we join her in heaven.
